

Advancing Justice. Building Futures.

A racially and economically just Philadelphia region where communities that once experienced economic neglect are thriving, and have safe, energy-efficient, and attainable housing opportunities, vibrant greenspace, and an abundance of resources to meet the needs of the vulnerable.

LETTER FROM LEADERSHIP

In 2025, FRP completed its decade-long transition from being primarily an owner and manager of property to serving primarily as a provider of homeless services, reentry services, and workforce development: Our current focus is preventing and mitigating homelessness, helping returning citizens achieve successful reentry, and providing workforce development to at-risk youth. We are grateful to every partner and participant who made this transformation possible

FRP is proud of its work connecting the people we serve to the housing and supportive services they need. In the coming years, FRP will continue to evolve its programs, services, and projects to reflect the changing needs of Philadelphians.

MISSION STATEMENT

Our mission is to answer our call to social justice and ecological sustainability by supporting the marginalized and vulnerable in the Philadelphia region with housing, life-skill and job readiness resources through social services, partnerships, and programs for training and jobs.

Honor our Quaker heritage through programs and local partnerships that are healing and restorative to neighborhoods that have suffered the impacts of unjust public policy, while promoting fiscal, environmental, and community resilience throughout the Philadelphia region.

YEAR IN REVIEW: FRP PROGRAMS IN 2025

Homelessness Prevention and Supportive Housing

The Homeless Services Program provides prevention and diversion services, rapid rehousing and supportive services to residents of Philadelphia to prevent first-time homelessness, and to assist individuals transitioning out of homelessness to achieve stable, independent living.

Re-Entry Program

Transforming Lives, Changing Communities (TLCC), is a holistic, trauma-focused, wraparound service that supports successful reentry efforts for justice-involved individuals. TLCC is a change agent for re-entry while building safe and thriving communities.

GRIT

A joint effort by Friends Rehabilitation Program (FRP) and Provision Vocational Training Center (PVTC), GRIT is designed to empower participants with the tools they need to overcome challenges and thrive. The program offers hands-on construction training that includes industry-specific certifications, solar energy education, and practical skills in high-demand industries such as general construction, HVAC, plumbing, electrical, and more.
